

Round-table discussion Psychotherapeutic care for refugees

22 and 23 March 2017

Office of the Federal Chamber of Psychotherapists in Germany

Klosterstrasse 64

10179 Berlin

Appropriate psychotherapeutic care for refugees is an important concern. To get an overview of how other EU member states are dealing with the topic and how psychotherapeutic care of refugees is organised there, the Federal Chamber of Psychotherapists in Germany (BPtK) conducted a survey based on a structured questionnaire of the members of the Network for Psychotherapeutic Care in Europe (NPCE) and other organisations and experts in this field of work in the second half of 2016. At this round-table, the results of the survey will be presented and discussed with the participating international experts.

The specialist event will also be associated with an NPCE member meeting, at which perspectives and priorities for future work will be defined. This is to be open to interested new members of the network from the sphere of psychotherapeutic experts.
